CALF CLUB DRAWING NEXT SATURDAY

The calf club that was organized last November for the boys and girls by the Central State Bank will have its drawing next Saturday.

The members of the club will meet at the bank at 1:30 where they will draw for their calves. Each member draws for a calf in the breed that he has selected. Some want Jerseys, some Holsteins, some White Face and one wants a Shorthorn.

Mr. F. G. Bennett, State Dairy Commissioner and Mr. Zack Galloway, President, Southwest Hereford Breeders' Association have been invited to be present.

Every calf that will be drawn is a registered heifer and some of them have famous families represented in their pedigrees. Among the Jerseys Raleigh and Fox breeding is prominent and some of the Herefords are strong in Dale blood. There are many good individuals in the bunch.

It has taken a great deal longer to get the calves than was anticipated. This was explained by Mr. E. W. Wallen, a member of the Executive Committee of the Club, which looked after the buying. Mr. Wallen says that it is almost impossible to buy registered Jersey heifers and that the delay was occasioned in trying to locate them. It was with considerable difficulty that a sufficient number to supply the wants of the club were obtained, he explained. Mr. Wallen is well pleased with the calves that were finally procured.

The purpose of the bank in promoting a club of this kind is to keep the boys and girls interested in things here at home and to encourage the raising of better cattle in this community. The bank takes an interest in boosting those things that make the community more prosperous.

It's all right to knock if the knock is in the right direction, but the chronic knocker should be knocked in to a cocked hat.

One of the many wonders is why our people don't raise more potatoes. They are being shipped in now at from $2.50 to $5.00 per bushel and for several years have sold at good prices. Some men will wear out themselves, team and tools to cultivate fifteen or twenty acres of corn when more food, feed and revenue could be produced on two acres of potatoes and a few acres of cane and with one-fourth the labor, but it's hard to get out of the old rut.

The snow which fell Sunday made it seem more like Christmas than Easter.

Now if the Easter togs which failed to be exhibited Sunday would only keep until next year.
